Try it for ten days at our expense then you'll realize the

U.S. Automatic Pencil Sharpener is the only practical pointer ever produced.

Our Offer: Send us $3.50—we'll ship a complete U. S. Automatic Pencil Sharpener with 2 extra knives, prepaid—use it for 10 days—test it in every reasonable way—make the machine prove itself all we claim for it—then if you're not satisfied ship it back collect and get your $3.50 back.

Surely this offer proves our Confidence?

Our Claims: Costs only 1 cent a day—saves 10c. a day in time, dirt and annoyance wherever three pencil users work. Cuts off enough and no more—after pencil is sharpened you can turn the handle all day—it can't cut off more than necessary. No parts to break or be put out of order. It does not grind—it cuts—the blades cut downward with the grain of the pencil wood without twisting the pencil, making it impossible to break the lead.

Get our book, "A Saving Pointer"—tells you how to stop an important office leak—its free—ask for it.

Trial of U. S. Automatic Pencil Sharpener is proof that it is saving, practical, indispensable in every office.

DEDICATION

TO THE "ODD-FELLOWS".

Ye that have trod the trail in long gone days
To strange frontiers, and passed thro' lowland meads
To Life's High Road, take ye this book: ye too,
Ye followers in our steps, dim figures faint
As dreams, that trace our foot's imprint on heath
And brake, and venture after us: to ye this book,
Tale of our memories and Heart-Desires,
Wrought from the storied years, we dedicate.

Vista from Brooks Hall

RETURN TO BROOKS HALL AT TWILIGHT

Close the gate softly, friend of mine,
  And bide just a wee
Out here under the twilight sky!
For that click of the gate is the magic sign
  That we have crossed the boundary line,
And now in our own little world are free,
  With the commonplace world passed by.

The shores of Jersey scarce are faintly lined,
Yet lights gleam soft in myriad array
Upon their slopes; below, not seen, but felt,
The soundless river flows its ceaseless way.
The campus stretches mistily before
Our vision, to the point where shrubs and trees
Loom dark and strangely huge, as gracefully
They bend to meet the murmuring evening breeze.

  And Brooks! dear Brooks! how fair
The shadows shifting down thy columns are,—
And at the cloister's end, as in a frame,
That arch of purple sky, where shines one star!
Yet all this silence, Brooks, is but without,—
  As witness every cheerful college light
Flashing from windows up and down thy height,—
  Of life and stir within they leave no doubt.
With one last ling'ring look upon the scene
  O'er which the hush of twilight's hour descends,
We turn, and enter through the welcoming door,
  To life, and light, and merriment, and friends.

A STUDENT'S ROOM

AROUND THE FIRE

God gave all men all earth to love
But since our hearts are small—
Ordained for each one spot should prove Beloved over all.

"It is a stately Senior—now gaze upon her, do."

SENIOR year is a period of awakening. From the very first day of college those who are covering the last lap of the one hundred and twenty-four point course, find themselves enveloped in an atmosphere of sobering thought. Class distinctions fade away and college spirit strengthened by the past three years, becomes a calm, all persuasive force, too deep for utterance. Alma Mater is now a living reality. Studies, too, begin to take on a new aspect. If there have been moments of pure intellectual enjoyment throughout the other years, there are hours of it now. Something like a real sense of appreciation comes to the Senior. A sense of personal equilibrium is another valuable gain. The Senior gets her balance. The moody introspection of Junior year now makes way for cheerful philosophy. The graduating student learns not to take people and things too seriously, but to use her sense of humor to the utmost. She acquires poise. Friendships in the last year take firm root. There is something about the coming day of separation that adds a touch of tenderness to them and endows them, even now, with the mystic haze of memory. Senior year is full of meaning. It is in every sense of the word the culmination. With her face turned toward the sheepskin goal, her eyes looking beyond it into the calling world of struggling humanity, her heart bound to her Alma Mater, the Senior goes forward on her way—half eagerly, half reluctantly to the frontier of life.

"It is a frisky Junior that skips before the crowd."

JUNIOR! What wealth of meaning lies in that one word. For this third year—the ideal of the Freshman and the happy oasis of memory to the Senior—is one of the great mile stones in the four years of college life. The Junior takes her place in the ranks of the Upper Classmen. She has served her apprenticeship of required work and now enters upon a new phase of existence where studies are elective and life filled with the keen enjoyment of actual accomplishment. It is this mutual joy of living which draws together so closely the Freshman and Junior classes. In a way these two occupy parallel positions in college; each stands at the lowest rung of a new ladder—Lower Classmen and Upper Classmen. Each step brings the Junior nearer the top, where her Alma Mater stands waiting to give the passport to new lands. There is an exhilaration in this climb of Junior year. The laggard is no longer driven to her task; voluntarily she quickens her pace as she finds new wonders opening before her. The days of forced study are over, and she is eager for knowledge. Her horizon has broadened and she begins to take an interest in the people about her. Before her dazzled view there stretches a living world into which she longs to go out and learn.

"It is a bantam Sophomore that's strutting into view."

AND so we pass into Sophomore year! The Freshman returns to college in the fall of her second year, no longer the heedless and inexperienced enthusiast, but a creature wise in her own conceit. She expects to conquer! And what does she find? It is the same college, but somehow the glamor of the past year has become inexplicably tarnished. The illusion is not quite so perfect as it used to be. Her point of view has shifted. She is looking at things, not with the ecstasy of the newcomer, but with the vanity of one who knows all about it—one who has climbed high and now looks back upon the strugglers below. But even as poor Humpty Dumpty she is doomed to fall. Sophomore year is a time of awakening to the world of fact, where the student realizes for the first time that after all her wisdom is false pride and her resources nothing of which to boast. The Sophomore finds out her own inefficacy—she learns to know herself. Then with that knowledge comes the realization that life is not all roseate, but that there are dark patches in the sky. She has eaten of the tree of knowledge and is forced beyond the Eden of Illusion.

"It is a tender Freshman that walks upon the scene."

FRESHMAN! The word in itself is significant. For in spite of the pert and officious meaning which colloquial use has given it, the term "fresh" stands for all that is unimpaired and brisk, strong and full of vitality, and so the youngest class was rightly called.

Upper Classmen smile knowingly at the inexperience, "greenness" as they call it, of the incoming class. But is not this inexperience a help rather than a hindrance to the newcomers? For with a clear field for untried energy to grasp the "do and don'ts" of college life, the Freshmen make a quick advance aided by the Seniors as models, the Juniors as guides, and the ever ready Sophomores as physicians for the conceit chronic to late high school graduates. It is a common college saying that Freshmen are known by their incessant cheering and continual yelling. This is indeed true, but why should it be considered a detriment to the class? The newcomers are only expressing their unspoiled joy at the realization that they are a part of the college, and their gratitude for the possibilities and future before them. And so their cheers and yells are as it were pledges that they will seize every opportunity and surpass even what is expected of them. They are filled with the thought that Freshman year is the nicest, the best—only until they are Sophomores, and so on all the way through.

Sunset Song

(Tune: Sweet Genevieve)

Again the Palisades grow dark,
The morning winds have left our heights,
Our river shows a gleam of gold,
And one by one spring up far lights.
How oft those lights have called us home!
How well we know that sunset's flare!
Oh, classmates, shall we ever find
New hills, new rivers quite so fair?

Oh, 1909, dear 1909,
Our praises fail that would be thine;
We cannot say on this last day
How we have loved thee, 1909.

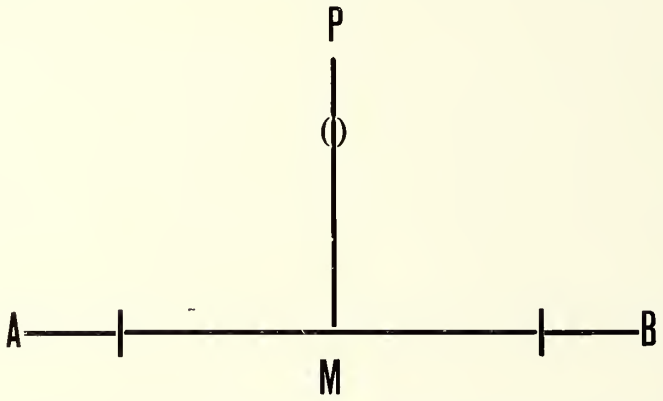
PROPOSITION XXIII.—To let fall a flunk on a given person from any given external Points.



GIVEN.—Let A B be the given straight person, and P one of the given external Points. To let an F fall on the person A B from the prof. P.

DESTRUCTION.—From the prof. P as a center, with a question sufficiently large describe an exam. cutting A B in two points, J. S. Points and the points she can give you in History (9-10). From these points as centers of interest, with ignorance greater than one-half A B's, describe 2 quizzes intersecting at the point of A B's greatest knowledge O (zero). Draw P O and prolong the agony to meet A B at M. (high noon). Then from M as a starting point, with a few facts equal to N. G., draw the conclusion P. D. Q. and then drop the curtain.

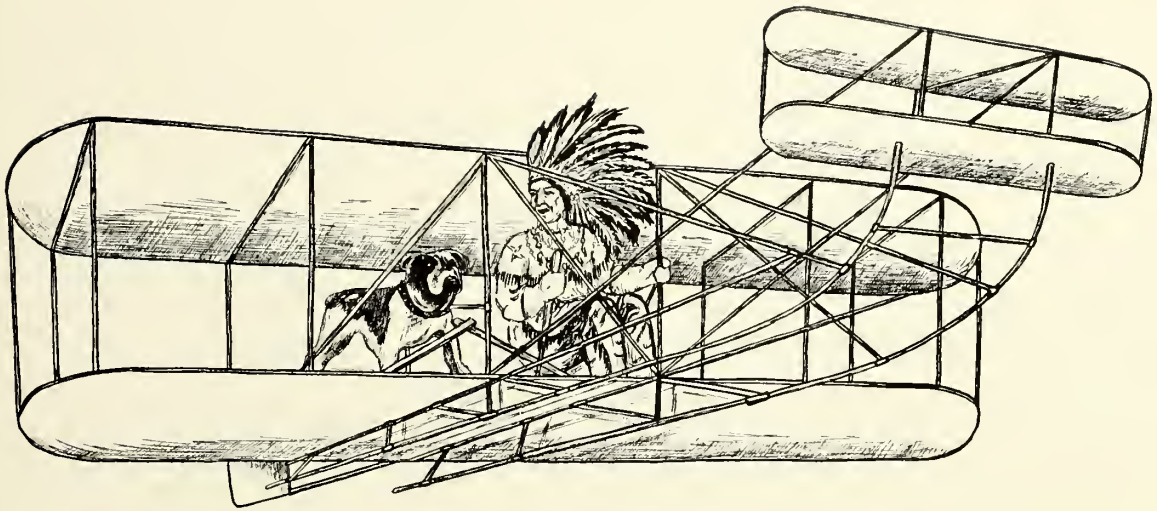
Oh! Mother

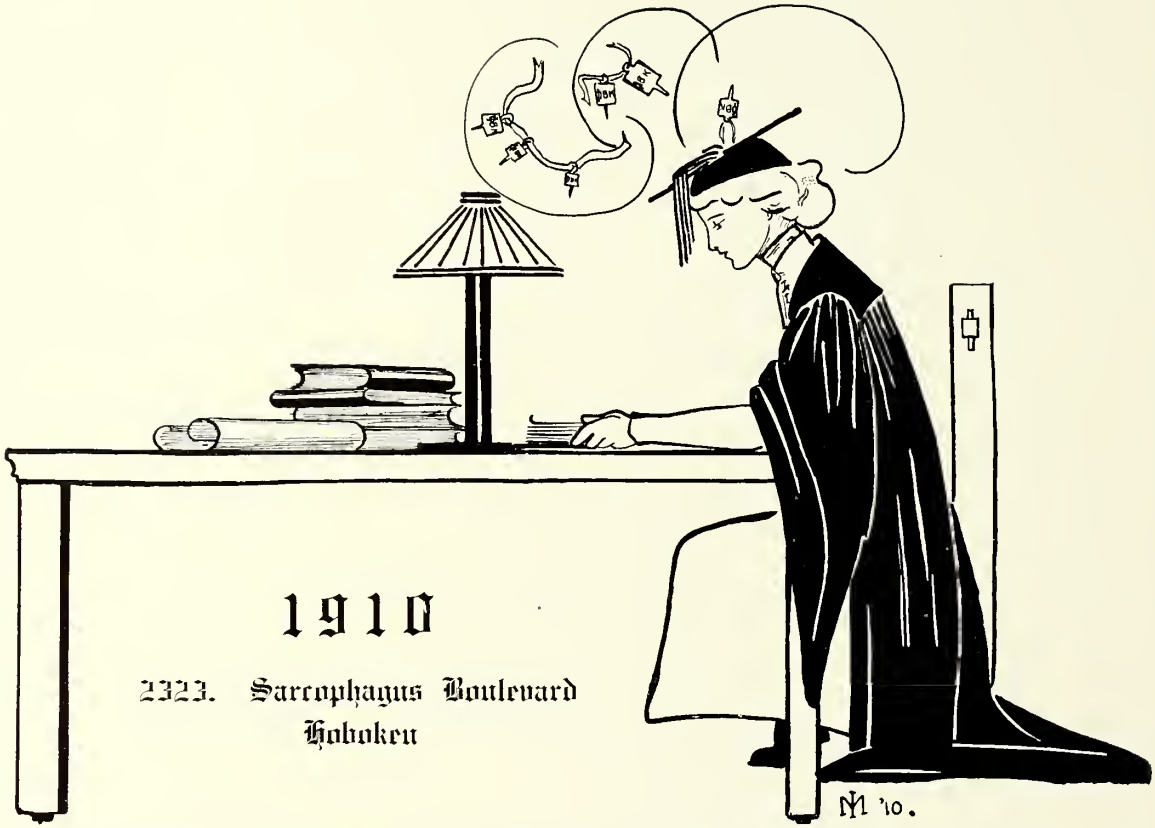
Oh! where is my wandering ma to-night,
Oh! where can mother be!
She has hied her forth to a suffrage fight
As happy as she can be.

The range is cold on the kitchen trail,
The cupboard is bleak and bare,
For mother is lodged in the county jail
For pulling the speaker's hair.

(WITH APOLOGIES TO LIFE.)



The Right Brothers at Barnard



1910 was born in Philadelphia, July 4th, quite a time ago, but on account of the noise moved to Weehawken. She prepared for college at Jonesville Female Seminary, and though preferring Wellesley and Teachers College, fortunately came to Barnard. Since entering Barnard her chief interests have been athletic. She rides daily in the subway, and walks from there to college. Her favorite pastime is walking through the Campus to Brooks Hall, although she sometimes goes around by Claremont Avenue. Sometimes, in order to be broad-minded, she goes by Broadway. She is a member of the Y. W. C. A., C. S. M. A., W. C. T. U. In Sophomore year she showed her musical ability by serving on the committee for the Selection of Hymns for Chapel; in Junior year, she was third member of the Sub-committee for the Suppression of Noise in the Halls. She loves flowers and is kind to animals. Her major subject is Prehistoric Archæology, but her favorite study is Embroidery. Requiescat in pace.

Dedication

TO THE CLASS OF 1911

Ye that have picked your steps to follow ours,
And helped us most our high ideals to reach;
Most glorious class, our model in all things.
We have the God-given lot
Your greatness to appreciate; and you,
In youthful trust, reciprocate our love
Therefore, to you we dedicate this book.

(Written specially for this occasion by the Editor-in-Chief.)

Juvenile Letters to Uncle Charlie

Dear Uncle Charlie:

I am a little girl in my teens, and I want to tell you about my pony. He goes with me every day to college and I don't know what I could do without him to carry me through. Did you have a pony when you were a little boy?

Your little friend, BESSIE JUNIOR.

Uncle Charlie, although he is awfully fond of animals, has rather a distaste for ponies. He doesn't quite know why, but when he went to Rome, you know, he rode on a donkey. Try donkies, Bessie. I always agree with donkeys. More news next year.

UNCLE CHARLIE

Comic Subtlement

Edited by the Acting Dean.

The brightest things that people have laughed at.

I.—A pun. (From one of my classes.)

Prof.—What is currency?
Freshman—Something that runs.
Prof.—Is a dog current then?
(Immense applause by class. Modest chuckles from Prof.)

II.—A joke. (From another of my classes.)

Prof.—Ye-ars, ye-ars, and ye-ars ago there were three aigs—years and years ago. (long intermission as students grasp the facts). What about them?
Long silence on part of students.
Brilliant elucidation by professor.
"Years and years ago, two were bad."
Loud noises by the class.

III.—A cartoon.—See the 1911 Mortarboard.

Fashions

Notes in Flashing Style—by One Who Knows.

I have noticed that a great many short coats are being worn this year. It is quite the thing for the early morning jaunt to classes and seems to have been taken up by men in high positions. Negligée collars are economical but Mussey.

A well chosen tie is a mark of character. You know a gent by his spats. All the same, if you really want to see something nifty in good style for professors, come into my elocution class, any day at all, at any old time

President Butler

The Editor-in-Chief

The editors wish to call the attention of the readers to the peculiar impressionistic touch for which each artist is famous Such bold dasbes of color! Such rough filmy outlines! Such vast spaces to be filled by the reader's imagination! We beg to apologize for the lack of pictures in this department, but our artists quarrelled as to whether it was fair to give the editor-in-chief a full length portrait and Pres. Butler only a miniature.

Science—Domestic

Miss Bissell.

Given at Brooks Hall daily—hours 8.00-8.30, 12.00-1.00, 6.30 and spasmodic ejaculations whenever the Head of the Department gets a stray pupil and a chance, at one and the same time. Great stress laid on reiterated recapitulation of the dear dead yesterdays. How to save and be happy.

Good Form Column

Letters answered by Dr. Braun and Miss Manchester according to the nature of the query.
Letters strictly confidential. References.

My dear Dr. Braun:

I am a young professor twenty-three years of age, and suseeptible to blushing. Can you give me any idea how to eure sueh an affliction.

Yours with devotion, OTTO.

ANSWER.—Go to all the Barnard teas; watch the dainty creatures generously pass the cake to their neighbors; watch the poor things starve themselves out of charity. You will lose your bashfulness in manly attempts to feed them. Frequent undergraduate teas especially and the campus at noon.

My dear Dutchess:

I am a young man far on in years, and I am second cousin to a lady friend of mine at Brooks Hall. What requirements must I pass before I can call on her there? She is a beautiful young lady and we have been introduced.

Sincerely, C. HARTLEY.

ANSWER.—Please send me answers in full to following requirements: (1) your family; (2) your position; (3) your character; (4) your salary; (5) your intentions; (6) your fraternity; (7) do you like music? Then perhaps if I have time I shall be able to consider your case.

History 9-10

You clip and you cut and you clip,
And you paste and glue and stick.
It's half-past one and there's lots that isn't done;
All this fuss about the Budget makes you sick.

You scan every column, every sheet;
You can even clip news from an ad.
Oh! curses on the man who invented this old plan,
It's enough to drive a sane, young Brownie mad.

In Facultate

The omnipresent Brownies
  Are here in Facultate,
And they treat the little Brownies
  In a way they hadn't oughte.

One makes us learn our German verbs
  And grins with wicked glee:
The other grins and quizzes us
  On Greek philosophy.

Economics A

Behold these hatless Brownies,
  Behold their hairless pates,
What makes them look so frightened?
  What doom for them awaits?

Oh, Mussey's long statistics
  Of dying nation's woes,
Of contract rent, and cash ill spent,
  In terror has them froze!

Charmed with each little woeful phiz,
  Says Mussey, with great glee,
"Off with your hats and let me see Those features which inspire me."

Basket Ball

Twelve girls a'prancing round the floor
And sitting on the ball,
Hundreds crowded round the sides,
Shrieking through the hall.

Alas, that noble womanhood
Could be so ungenteel,
And let a college yell become
A merely feline squeal.

Teachers' College

Oh, see these T. C.'s,
With their little umbrell—
By their youthful expression
We know them well.

They soar high in learning
While we fall quite flat.
Each has on her hat.)

Oh! Brooks Hall is an awful place,
Though you would ne'er suppose it.
The Brownies there would raise your hair,
Their life?—oh, don't disclose it.

They eat and drink from morn till night,
They howl in quiet hours,
They talk about the good trustees
And slander all the powers.

They never think of studying,
But laugh the whole day long,
And when a good soul tries to work
They laugh and mock—how wrong!

So flee the place, all Brownies good,
Eschew contamination,
Such sinful waste, such vulgar taste
Results from education.

Lockers

It is not short, it is not tall,
My beastly locker in the hall;
But one thing that I know, is that It's much too small to hold my hat.
'Tis plain to see it's foolish plan
Was drawn up by some thoughtless man.

To think that such as it can mar
Hats that among the noblest are!
And with its pesky combination
Cause wrath and woe and consternation!
I turn "to left" and curse my fate,
It opens not, and I am late.

Alas! alas! my weary head!
I've done my sorry best,

So here I go along to bed,
Ye readers need a rest.

"WHAT RAGE FOR FAME ATTENDS BOTH GREAT AND SMALL BETTER BE DAMNED THAN MENTIONED NOT AT ALL."

EDITH LOUISE ALLEN
244 W. 104th STREET,
NEW YORK.

There is no gray in her color schemes,
All things are either black or white.

HELEN AMY
430 W. 122d STREET,
NEW YORK.

A pleasant-spirited lady.
There's little of the melancholy spirit in her.

A. LAURA BENNET
GEORGETOWN, CONN.

That bothersome affair they call a conscience.

FANNIE AURILL BISHOP
500 W. 122d STREET,
NEW YORK.

By Jupiter, an angel! If not, an earthly paragon.

STELLA BLOCH
552 W. 161st STREET,
NEW YORK.

That's just what I complain of! Now, if you had two eyes on the same side of the nose, or the mouth at the top—it might be better.

IDA BOKSHITZKY
381 KOSCUISKO STREET,
BROOKLYN.

She doeth little kindnesses
Which most leave undone or despise.

JOSEPHINE A. BOSCH
660 E. 163d STREET,
NEW YORK.

The very Pink of Courtesy.

HELEN E. BRADBEER
149 E. LINCOLN AVENUE,
MOUNT VERNON, N. Y.

She is a great observer and she looks right through the deeds of men.

HELEN BROWN
BOONTON, N. J.

Existence is a merry treat.

JUANITA BROWN
94 SHELTON AVENUE,
JAMAICA, N. Y.

Never imagine yourself not to be otherwise, than what it might appear to others that what you were, was not otherwise than what you had been would have appeared to them to be.

EMILY E. M. BRUNING
317 73d STREET,
BROOKLYN.

Her stature tall—I hate a dumpy woman.

AGNES M. BURKE
MORRISTOWN, N. Y.

A deal of Ariel, just a streak of Puck.

ELEANOR BURNE
DOUGLASTOWN, N. Y.

Oh, it is excellent to have a giant's strength!

EDITH C. BURNS
162 EIGHTH AVENUE,
BROOKLYN, N. Y.

I dare to do what may become a woman.

RUTH A. BURNS
27 SOUND VIEW,
PORTCHESTER, N. Y.

Master alike in Speech and Prose
Of James' great antiseptic style.

A. MAY CALLAN
816 E. 176th STREET,
NEW YORK.

Why so rapt and mute,
young sinner?
Prithee, why so mute?

RUTH CARROLL
WARWICK, N. Y.

So sweet and calm and holy was her soul,
That it scarce seemed that she to earth belonged.

THERESE CASSEL
1976 MADISON AVENUE,
NEW YORK.

Young in the ways of the world.

AMELIA A. CLEMENT
50 BUCHANAN PLACE,
NEW YORK.

I love tranquil solitude and such society as is quiet, wise and good.

ETHEL M. COCHRANE
137 RICH AVENUE,

Be not careless in deeds, nor confused in words, nor rambling in thoughts.

MARY P. CONROY
13 TOWNSEND AVENUE,
STAPLETON, N. Y.

'Tis beauty truly bent, whose red and white
Nature's own sweet and cunning hand laid on.

HELEN C. COOMBS
312 S. BROADWAY,
YONKERS, N. Y.

A life of sorrow and privation, a hard life indeed do these poor devil artists have of it.

LAILA A. COSTON
SCRANTON, PENN

Inviolate be the sacred right of man,
The freedom of debate.

HARRIET J. CURRIER
330 W. 28th STREET,
NEW YORK.

—So well
She knows her own, that what she wills to do or say
Seems wisest.

EDITH M. DEACON
502 W. 143d STREET,
NEW YORK.

Society is founded on Hero Worship.

AGNES M. DENIKE
22 HAMILTON TERRACE,
NEW YORK.

It is such a strain keeping men up to the mark!

EVELYN DEWEY
23 ST. NICHOLAS TERRACE,
NEW YORK.

I am a firm believer in Woman's Rights; especially the right to do as she pleases.

MILDRED DODGE
185 BERKELEY PLACE,
BROOKLYN.

I'd rather like the violet grow
Unmarked, in the shaded vale.

ISABELLE J. DORNING
124 W. 181st STREET,
NEW YORK.

How weary, stale, flat and unprofitable
Seem to me all the uses of this world.

ADELE DUNCAN
101 W. 85th STREET,
NEW YORK.

On with the dance, let joy be unconfined!
No sleep till morn, when youth and pleasure meet.

LEVANCHIA V. EATON
191 CLAREMONT AVE.,
NEW YORK.

Everything's got a moral
If you can only find it.

ESTELLE J. ELLISON
60 PROSPECT PLACE,
BROOKLYN.

A good example of hard work.

ETHEL L. FELCH
52 W. 105th STREET,
NEW YORK.

It is only the intellectually lost that ever worry.

VERA A. FUESLEIN
888 E. 176th STREET,
NEW YORK.

I will follow thee, my friends,
to the last gasp, with truth and loyalty.

KATHARINE GAY
205 W. 106th STREET,
NEW YORK.

She is no arguer, she is judgment.

ROSE R. GERSTEIN
130 MANHATTAN AVENUE,
BROOKLYN.

From Psyche-knot to pompadour
She tried them every one.
'Tis quite a burden, we confess,
A crown of glory to possess.

GRACE G. GILLEAUDEAU
HAWTHORNE PARK,
MAMARONACK, N. Y.

She hath a natural, wise sincerity.

PENELOPE N. GIRDNER
47 W. 71st STREET,
NEW YORK.

Fair tresses man's imperial race ensnare,
And beauty draws us with a dozen curls.

ELSIE GLEASON
239 DECATUR STREET,
BROOKLYN.

Tempestuous squalls, but merry times withal.

LOUISE de F. GREENAWALT
REDBANK, N. J.

. . . Her sunny locks
Hang o'er her temples like a golden fleece,
And many Jasons come in quest of her.

ELIZABETH GRAY
ENGLEWOOD, N. J.

Sweet, grave aspect.

LOTTIE J. GREIFF
166 W. 79th STREET,
NEW YORK.

Whom starry science in her cradle rocked.

RUTH J. HAKES
ILION, NEW YORK.

Friends, if we be honest with ourselves, we shall be honest with each other.

MARGARET T. HART
207 DYCKMAN STREET,
NEW YORK.

To do easily what is difficult for others is the mark of talent.

ELIZABETH B. HASLER ENGLAND.

And panting time toiled after her in vain.

IRMA F. HEIDEN
118 E. 74th STREET,
NEW YORK.

A person who is bounded by straight lines of conduct, having all her corners right, she is called square.

ANNA L. HERRMANN
1224 UNION AVENUE,
NEW YORK.

I have never found the limit of my capacity for work.

AUGUSTINA HESS
878 LAFAYETTE AVENUE,
BROOKLYN.

Say and do everything according to soundest reason.

ALICE T. HILL
783 GREENE AVENUE,
BROOKLYN.

Invcterate in virtue.

MADELEINE HIRSH
25 W. 87th STREET,
NEW YORK.

An honest friend!
What wad ye wish for mair, man?

CHARLOTTE M. HODGE
316 W. 108th STREET,
NEW YORK.

Blunt as the fencer's foils that hit but hurt not.

MARGARET R. HOGAN
WHITTIER HALL,
NEW YORK

Taking sides is the foundation of sincerity.

FLORENCE HOLZWASSER
468 RIVERSIDE DRIVE,
NEW YORK.

There was a little woman, and she had an earnest soul,
And she said to the soul: "Let us try, try, try."

OLGA K. IHLSENG
541 W. 124th STREET,
NEW YORK.

Hold the fort! I am coming!

LOUIE E. JOHNSON
460 W. 152d STREET,
NEW YORK.

She is pretty to walk with
And witty to talk with
And pleasant to think on.

ETHEL M. KEMPTON
9 VAN COURTLANDT PARK AVE,
YONKERS.

So shaken as I am and wan with care.

ANNA A. KUGLER
441 E. 134th STREET,
NEW YORK.

A penny for your thoughts.

ETHEL S. LEVERIDGE
277 EAST BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Possess'd with such a gentle sovereign grace, of such enchanting presence and discourse.

GRACE G. LOVELL
202 W. 82d STREET,
NEW YORK.

Art thou pale for weariness of climbing Heaven?

AUGUSTA LUSTGARTEN
528 W. 125th STREET,
NEW YORK.

A mind forever voyaging
The strange seas of thought alone.

A. LAILA MARTIN
AMBERSON AVENUE,
VAN COURTLAND TERRACE, N. Y.

Those that come late among us
Are no less welcome therefore.

GRACE McKEE
PORT WASHINGTON, L. I.

The first vertue, sonne, if thou wilt here,
Is to restrain and kepen well thy tonge.

EDNA J. McKEEVER
17 BANK STREET,
NEW YORK.

Rather inclined to be good.

MARY R. MASCHMEDT
62 ORCHARD STREET,
ASTORIA, L. I.

Innocence abroad!

THERESE MAYER
41 E. 72d STREET,
NEW YORK.

I find few sensible people but those who are of my own way of thinking.

MILDRED K. MESSING
113 BROAD STREET,
STAPLETON, N. Y.

Mocking the air with colors gaily spread.

SUSAN B. MINOR
FREEHOLD, N. J.

I have tried in my time to be a philosopher, but, I don't know how, cheerfulness was always creeping in.

EVA C. MORDECAI
319 W. 105th STREET,
NEW YORK.

Outweeps a hermit and outprays a saint.

ADDIE F. MORGENSTERN
45 W. 88th STREET,
NEW YORK.

She draweth out the thread of her verbosity finer than the staple of her argument.

RUTH L. MOSS
230 ST. NICHOLAS AVE.,
NEW YORK.

Season your admiration for a while.

AGNES M. NOBIS
BRYN MAWR PARK,
YONKERS.

How sad and bad and mad she was,
But then how she was sweet!

MARIAN OBERNDORFER
HOTEL ENDICOTT,
81st ST. and COLUMBUS AVE., N. Y.

Exceeding fair she was in that she never studied to be fairer than nature made her.

LOUISE E. OCKERS
OAKDALE, L. I., N. Y.

A girl of cheerful yesterdays
And confident to-morrows.

ALICE M. O'GORMAN
318 W. 108th STREET,
NEW YORK.

The warmth within that comes from cold without.

MARY B. POLHEMUS
19 HILLSIDE AVENUE,
ENGLEWOOD, N. J.

The soul that laughs and loves and rides for the right has the world at her feet while she is young.

HELEN M. PORTER
175 BEECH STREET,
YONKERS.

I know, teacher, I know.

MARION PRATT
57 W. 45th STREET,
NEW YORK.

As good be out of the world as out of fashion.

OTTILIE PROCHAZKA
138 W. 13th STREET,
NEW YORK.

By Heaven, she's a dainty one!

FRANCES M. F. RANDOLPH
425 W. 114th STREET,
NEW YORK.

If all the world's a stage and all the people players,
It's up to you to be the leading lady.

MABEL J. REID
82 MORNINGSIDE AVENUE,
NEW YORK.

This world is frivolous but for the giddy.

MARGUERITE W. REYNAR
BOONTON, NEW JERSEY.

Logic is logic—that's all I say.

MAMIE E. RIVKIN
521 W. 151st STREET,
NEW YORK.

Give me my vote and may the rest go hang.

HELEN DE M. RUNYON
40 W. 131st STREET,
NEW YORK.

For such a faithful tender heart
Can never break in vain!

LOUISE RUSK
7 TRINITY STREET,
MONTCLAIR, N. J.

She meant no wrong to any,
She sought the good of many.

ELIZABETH RIORDAN
523 W. 152d STREET,
NEW YORK.

We would that we could serve you;
but in truth
Your face is new to us.

ROSE L. SALMOWITZ
23 BROOME STREET,
BROOKLYN.

The tower of strength
Which stood four-square to all the winds that blew.

DOROTHY SALWEN
1931 BERGEN STREET,
BROOKLYN.

She delights in being different.

MILDRED L. SANBORN
1477 LEXINGTON AVENUE,
NEW YORK.

Let gentleness my strong enforcement be.

GEORGIANA SANFORD
431 W. 121st STREET,
NEW YORK.

A merry heart doeth
good like a medicine.

GERTRUDE E. SAUL
429 NINTH AVENUE,
LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y.

She never followed wicked ways, unless when she was sinning.

ETHEL SCHLESINGER
61 W. 74th STREET,
NEW YORK.

For those who love,
the world is wide.

LILLIAN H. SCHOEDLER
240 PURDY STREET,
STEINWAY, L. I.

The stars that have most glory have no rest.

CAROLINE E. SEELY
505 W. 122d STREET,
NEW YORK.

Wake, dreamer, from thy study.

MYRTLE SHWITZER
16 E. 96th STREET,
NEW YORK.

Seriously comic.

ANGELINA SEVESO
43 TILLARY STREET,
BROOKLYN.

Hereafter, in a better world than this,
We shall desire more love
and knowledge of you.

MARY B. SHAW
512 W. 149th STREET,
NEW YORK.

That's what I always have said.

KATHERINE H. SICKLES
596 RIVERSIDE DRIVE,
NEW YORK.

To doubt her fairness were to want an eye.

LOUISE M. SILLCOX
527 W. 121st STREET,
NEW YORK.

A trusty villain, sir, that very oft, when I am dull with care and melancholy, lightens my humor.

RUTH M. STAGEN
459 BEMENT AVENUE,
WEST BRIGHTON, N. Y.

Sober, steadfast and demure.

HETTA STAPFF
67 EAST END AVENUE,
NEW YORK.

Wisdom is humble that he knows no more.

JEANNETTE A. STEINECKE
55½ LYNCH STREET,
BROOKLYN.

A dash of enthusiasm is not a thing to be despised.

NATALIE STEWART
1754 TAPPING AVENUE,
NEW YORK.

What will Mrs. Grundy say?

STELLA STRAUS
504 RICHMOND TERRACE,
NEW BRIGHTON, N. Y.

And for each passerby a smile,
For every one a word.

BERNICE M. TABOR
HALTON, KANSAS.

Journeys end in lovers meeting
Every wise man's son doth know.

GLADYS G. TALLMAN
3605 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Truth hath a quiet breast.

ELIZABETH THOMPSON
568 W. 161st STREET,
NEW YORK.

Why did you laugh then when I said "Man delights not me!"

KATE H. TIEMANN
82 N. ARLINGTON AVE.,
E. ORANGE, N. J.

I have immortal longings in me.

HELEN F. TRIESCHMANN
600 W. 133d STREET,
NEW YORK.

Her ways are ways of pleasantness and all her paths are peace.

ANNA S. VAN BUSKIRK
21 W. 123d STREET,
NEW YORK.

Ah, could I throw aside
these earthly bonds
That bind me down where lowly mortals sigh.

CHARLOTTE C. M. VERLAGE
201 W. 79th STREET,
NEW YORK.

They fool me to the top of my bent.

E. ADELAIDE WAITE
HACKENSACK, N. J.

When she was good, she was very, very good,
But when she was bad,
she was better.

AMY A. WEIL
300 W. 100th STREET,
NEW YORK.

I could no more resist the tendency of my emotions than cease building castles of dreams.

LINDA C. WEYMANN
148 E. 16th STREET,
NEW YORK.

Shy to illumine, but a jewel of a friend.

HELEN E. WILKES
IRVINGTON, N. J.

If for herself she will not love,
Nothing can make her.

GERALDINE J. WILLETS
34 MAMARONACK AVENUE,
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

A little learning scattered o'er
A frolic of four years—or more.

HELEN CRANDALL
HEMPSTEAD, L. I.

The finest spirits are not gregarious,
They do not love a crowd.

TEACHERS COLLEGE represents an outlay of five million dollars for the study of education and the training of teachers.

There are thirty-five departments, with one hundred officers of instruction; two schools of observation and practice, with seventy-five instructors and 1300 pupils; an educational library surpassed only by those of Leipzig and Paris; along with the facilities of all other parts of the university.

The present attendance is 1541 resident and 2032 partial students, representing every State and Territory, 150 other colleges and universities, and 250 teachers' training schools. Four fellowships and fifty scholarships are awarded annually. Four degrees of Ph. D., 51 of M. A., and 139 of B. S., and 248 professional diplomas were awarded in 1908. The demand upon the College for its graduates is four times the supply.

The Board of Publications issues five series, including 125 volumes and pamphlets.

Descriptive circulars will be sent upon application
